

APPLICATION for a Provisional Licence

Information for Applicants

Notes:

1. Both sections 6 and 7 must be completed. This applies even if the supervisor of electrical work is also the employer.
2. A supervisor of electrical work is a registered person:
 - (a) whose registration allows them to carry out the prescribed electrical work they are supervising;
 - (b) who has at least 3 years post registration experience;
 - (c) who is competent to carry out the prescribed electrical work they are supervising;
 - (d) who holds a current practising licence.
3. The Board may decline an application for a Provisional Licence
 - (a) where an applicant has previously held such a licence but did not pass or attempt to pass the required examination during the currency of that licence;
 - (b) from an applicant who has previously held a number of Provisional Licences.
4. Most Provisional Licences are issued with limitations, which can include one or more of the following:
 - (a) limited to carrying out certain prescribed electrical work;
 - (b) working on approved premises;
 - (c) working for an approved employer;
 - (d) not being able to supervise non registered persons
 - (e) not being able to test and certify wiring installation work unless such testing and certification is done under the supervision of:
 - (i) a registered electrical inspector
 - (ii) a registered electrician who is entitled to test and certify wiring installation work.
 - (f) being supervised by a supervisor of electrical work.
