Summary of the Board’s Decision

- [1] The Respondent failed to provide a Certificate of Compliance. He is censured and ordered to pay costs of $225. A record of the disciplinary offending will be recorded on the Public Register for a period of three years.

The Board

- [2] The Board is a statutory body established under the Electricity Act.<sup>1</sup> Its functions include hearing complaints about and disciplining persons to whom Part 11 of the Act.

Introduction

- [3] The hearing resulted from a complaint about the conduct of the Respondent and a report under section 147G(1) of the Act from the Investigator<sup>2</sup> that the complaint should be considered by the Board. Under section 147T of the Act, the Investigator must prosecute the matter at a Board hearing who may be represented by counsel.
- [4] The Respondent was served with a notice setting out the alleged disciplinary offence the Investigator reported should be considered by the Board. It was that on or around 30 November 2021 at [OMITTED], Mr Shamal Chand has failed to provide a return being an offence under section 143(f) of the Act, IN THAT, he failed to provide a Certificate of Compliance within 20 days of the completion of prescribed electrical work.

- [5] Prior to the hearing, the Respondent and the Board were provided with all of the documents the Investigator had in his/her power or possession.
- [6] No Board Members declared any conflicts of interest in relation to the matters under consideration.

Function of Disciplinary Action

[7] The common understanding of the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession. The focus is not punishment, but the protection of the public, the maintenance of public confidence and the enforcement of high standards of propriety and professional conduct. Those purposes were recently reiterated by the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom in R v Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales<sup>3</sup> and in New Zealand in Dentice v Valuers Registration Board<sup>4</sup>.

[8] Disciplinary action under the Act is not designed to redress issues or disputes between a complainant and a respondent. In McLanahan and Tan v The New Zealand Registered Architects Board,<sup>5</sup> Collins J. noted that:

“... the disciplinary process does not exist to appease those who are dissatisfied ... . The disciplinary process ... exists to ensure professional standards are maintained in order to protect clients, the profession and the broader community.”

[9] The Board can only inquire into “the conduct of an electrical worker” with respect to the grounds for discipline set out in section 143 of the Act. It does not have any jurisdiction over contractual matters.

Procedure

[10] The matter proceeded on the basis of an Agreed Statement of Facts.

Evidence

[11] The Board must be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the disciplinary offences alleged have been committed<sup>6</sup>. The Board notes, as regards evidence in proceedings before it, that the provisions of section 147W of the Act apply. This section states:

In all proceedings under this Part, the Board may, subject to section 156, receive as evidence any statement, document, information, or matter that may in its opinion assist it to deal effectively with the matter before it, whether or not it would be admissible as evidence in a court of law.

[12] The Board heard from the Respondent prior to it making a decision.

- [13] As noted, the matter proceeded on the basis of an Agreed Statement of Facts. The Statement set out that the Respondent carried out and supervised a switchboard upgrade in November 2021. Following completion and through to March 2022 the person who contracted for the work requested a Certificate of Compliance (“CoC”). As one was not provided, a complaint was made. A combined Electrical Safety Certificate (ESC) and CoC were then provided. The Complainant, however, did not consider that it accurately reflected what had been carried out. An amended ESC/CoC was issued.
- [14] The Respondent provided a response in which he accepted that he failed to provide the CoC/ESC within the required timeframe (20 days) due to a payment dispute. He acknowledged that the withholding was incorrect and stated he would not do it again.
- [15] The general rule is that all facts in issue, or relevant to the issue in a case, must be proved by evidence. As the Investigator and Respondent agreed to the facts as outlined above, it was not necessary to call any further evidence or to test the evidence as outlined in the Statement.

Board’s Conclusion and Reasoning

- [16] The Board has decided that the Respondent has failed to provide a return being an offence under section 143(f) of the Act in that he failed to provide a Certificate of Compliance within 20 days of the completion of prescribed electrical work.
- [17] The allegation was that the Respondent had failed to provide a return required under an enactment, in this instance, a Certificate of Compliance (CoC).
- [18] A CoC must, under regulation 65 of the Safety Regulations, be issued for all general and high risk prescribed electrical work on installations or part installations. Under regulation 65(3), general prescribed electrical work may not be treated as complete until a CoC is issued for it. Under regulation 74E(2) of the Safety Regulations, a CoC must be issued within 20 days of completion.
- [19] The prescribed electrical work was carried out in November 2021. A CoC was not issued until March 2022 well outside of the 20 day time limit. It follows that the offence has been committed.

Penalty, Costs and Publication

- [20] Having found that one or more of the grounds in section 143 applies the Board must, under section 147M of the Act<sup>i</sup>, consider the appropriate disciplinary penalty, whether the Respondent should be ordered to pay any costs and whether the decision should be published.
- [21] The Respondent made submissions at the hearing as regards penalty, costs and publication.

Penalty

[22] The purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession; the focus is not punishment but the enforcement of a high standard of propriety and professional conduct. The Board does note, however, that the High Court in Patel v Complaints Assessment Committee<sup>7</sup> commented on the role of “punishment” in giving penalty orders stating that punitive orders are, at times, necessary to provide a deterrent and to uphold professional standards. The Court noted:

[28] I therefore propose to proceed on the basis that, although the protection of the public is a very important consideration, nevertheless the issues of punishment and deterrence must also be taken into account in selecting the appropriate penalty to be imposed.

[23] The Board also notes that in Lochhead v Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment,<sup>8</sup> the Court noted that whilst the statutory principles of sentencing set out in the Sentencing Act 2002 do not apply to the Electricity Act, they have the advantage of simplicity and transparency. The Court recommended adopting a starting point for a penalty based on the seriousness of the disciplinary offending prior to considering any aggravating and/or mitigating factors. The same applies to disciplinary proceedings under the Electricity Act.

[24] The Board adopted a starting point of a modest fine. The offending was at the lower end of the scale. The Respondent has cooperated and accepted that he had breached section 143(f) of the Act. He has learnt from the complaint and has stated he will not re-offend. In those circumstances, the Board decided that it would reduce the penalty to one of a censure. A censure is a public expression of disapproval of the Respondent’s behaviour.

Costs

[25] Under section 147N of the Act, the Board may require the Respondent to pay the Board any sum that it considers just and reasonable towards the costs and expenses of, and incidental to the investigation, prosecution and the hearing.

[26] The Respondent should note that the High Court has held that 50% of total reasonable costs should be taken as a starting point in disciplinary proceedings and that the percentage can then be adjusted up or down having regard to the particular circumstances of each case<sup>9</sup>.

[27] In Collie v Nursing Council of New Zealand,<sup>10</sup> where the order for costs in the tribunal was 50% of actual costs and expenses, the High Court noted that:

<sup>9</sup> Cooray v The Preliminary Proceedings Committee HC, Wellington, AP23/94, 14 September 1995, Macdonald v Professional Conduct Committee, HC, Auckland, CIV 2009-404-1516, 10 July 2009, Owen v Wynyard HC, Auckland, CIV-2009-404-005245, 25 February 2010.

But for an order for costs made against a practitioner, the profession is left to carry the financial burden of the disciplinary proceedings, and as a matter of policy that is not appropriate.

[28] In Kenneth Michael Daniels v Complaints Committee 2 of the Wellington District Law Society,<sup>11</sup> the High Court noted:

[46] All cases referred to in Cooray were medical cases and the Judge was careful to note that the 50 per cent was the general approach that the Medical Council took. We do not accept that if there was any such approach, it is necessarily to be taken in proceedings involving other disciplinary bodies. Much will depend upon the time involved, actual expenses incurred, attitude of the practitioner bearing in mind that whilst the cost of a disciplinary action by a professional body must be something of a burden imposed upon its members, those members should not be expected to bear too large a measure where a practitioner is shown to be guilty of serious misconduct.

[47] Costs orders made in proceedings involving law practitioners are not to be determined by any mathematical approach. In some cases 50 per cent will be too high, in others insufficient.

[29] The Board has adopted an approach to costs that uses a scale based on 50% of the average costs of different categories of hearings, simple, moderate and complex. The current matter was simple. Adjustments based on the High Court decisions above are then made.

[30] Based on the above the Board's costs order is that the Respondent is to pay the sum of $225 toward the costs of and incidental to the matter. In setting the amount of costs the Board took into account that the Respondent had agreed to the matter proceeding by way of an Agreed Statement of Facts.

Publication

[31] As a consequence of its decision, the Respondent's name and the disciplinary outcomes will be recorded in the public register as required by the Act<sup>12</sup>. The Board can, pursuant to section 147Z of the Act, also order publication over and above the public register notation. Under section 147Z the Board may, if no appeal is brought within 20 working days of its decision, direct the Registrar to cause a notice stating the effect of the decision or order, the reasons for the decision or order, and (unless the Board directs otherwise) the name of the person in respect of whom the decision or order was made, to be published in the Gazette and any other publications as may be directed by the Board.

[32] As a general principle, such further public notification may be required where the Board perceives a need for the public and/or the profession to know of the findings of a disciplinary hearing. This is in addition to the Respondent being named in this decision.

- [33] Within New Zealand, there is a principle of open justice and open reporting which is enshrined in the Bill of Rights Act 1990<sup>13</sup>. The Criminal Procedure Act 2011 sets out grounds for suppression within the criminal jurisdiction<sup>14</sup>. Within the disciplinary hearing jurisdiction, the courts have stated that the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Act do not apply but can be instructive<sup>15</sup>. The High Court provided guidance as to the types of factors to be taken into consideration in N v Professional Conduct Committee of Medical Council<sup>16</sup>.
- [34] The courts have also stated that an adverse finding in a disciplinary case usually requires that the name of the practitioner be published in the public interest<sup>17</sup>. It is, however, common practice in disciplinary proceedings to protect the names of other persons involved as naming them does not assist the public interest.
- [35] The Respondent noted the impact publication would have on his business and, more importantly, his employees. The Board decided that it would not order any further publication.
- [36] The Respondent should also note that the Board has not made any form of order under section 153(3) of the Act, which allows for prohibition of publication.

Penalty, Costs and Publication Orders

- [37] For the reasons set out above, the Board directs that:

Penalty: Pursuant to section 147M(1)(g) of the Electricity Act 1992, the Respondent is ordered censured.

Costs: Pursuant to section 147N of the Act, the Respondent is ordered to pay costs of $225 (GST included) towards the costs of, and incidental to, the inquiry of the Board.

Publication: The Registrar shall record the Board's action in the Register of Electrical Workers in accordance with section 128(1)(c)(viii) of the Act.

The Respondent will be named in this decision.

In terms of section 147Z of the Act, there will not be action taken to publicly notify the Board's action.

- [38] The Respondent should note that the Board may refuse to relicence an electrical worker who has not paid any fine or costs imposed on them.
